From the date of the first settlement of America there was warfare with the Indians, and during the war of the Revolution there was also war with the British. But by that time the Indian fighting had retreated westward. In 1777 Harrodsburg, Ky., was surrounded by red men, and the people, not daring to go out to hunt for game, were often in great straits for food. The settlement was protected by one of those stockade forts used at that time for keeping off savages, and when they were hostile the inhabitants of the place were obliged to keep within its inclosure.

During this Indian hostility and consequent lack of food a youth of sixteen made himself invaluable by leaving the fort before dawn, hunting all day and returning after nightfall with the game he had shot. James Ray was the name of this brave boy, and his afterward became a general officer in the United States army.

One day Ray and a companion were outside the fort shooting at a mark. Suddenly Ray heard the report of a rifle and his friend fell dead. It did not require a process of reasoning for Ray to know that the shot had come from an Indian. Looking about him he saw the redskin who had killed his friend and raising his rifle was about to shoot him when there was a whoop from another quarter. Then Ray took to his heels and ran like a deer toward the fort a few hundred yards distant. Ray was a very quick runner. The Indians could not catch him, but they followed him with a brisk fire. He reached the fort without having been hit, but found the gates closed. Those within had heard the firing, had shut themselves in and were too terrified to open the gates. Ray called upon them to let him in, but fearing that if they did the savages would follow him and massacre the garrison they refused to do so.

Ray threw himself flat on the ground, a stump covering him from the fire of the enemy. That is, the Indians could not hit him, though their bullets sang in such proximity to his ears as to make him think that the next would cut off one of them, or perhaps tear a strip out of his side or go through his foot. He was but half a dozen steps from the fort, within which he would be safe if he could only get there.

But this was impossible so long as the Indians were threatening him. Near enough to see those in the fort looking through the loop holes he talked with them about ways to extricate him from his position. While the bullets were singing on either side of him he was conversing with his mother. There seemed no way to relieve him except to open the gates, and by doing this many lives might be sacrificed in an ineffectual attempt to save one.

There was one in the fort who suffered as much, doubtless far more, than Ray himself. That was his mother. She looked through a loophole, where she could see him lying in his perilous position, and she could see each spurt of smoke as it left an Indian rifle, knowing that it marked the sending of a bullet to kill her boy. And Ray could not only hear the bullet sing over him, but saw his danger reflected in his mother's face.

Hour after hour passed without any change in the situation. When it seemed impossible for him to be any longer in one position and he attempted to change it, the consequent exposure of some portion of his body would draw more fire, admonishing him to endure the constrained attitude rather than risk a wound by trying to relieve it. The ground on each side of him was torn up in furrows by the bullets that had been shot through it, and he was covered by dust they had thrown upon him.

Night was coming on and the Indians were drawing nearer. When it became dark there could be nothing to prevent the savages from coming near enough to take him or to shoot him from a position where the stumps would not protect him. For four hours he had laid in view of those in the fort, his mother trying to encourage him, yet herself needing encouragement, when a sudden thought occurred to him. "For heaven's sake," he cried, "dig a hole under the cabin wall and take me in."

All wondered why they hadn't thought of the plan before. Pick and spade were brought, and a hole was sunk in the ground. Then when it was of a depth sufficient to extricate under the wall, a channel was run out to the young hunter and he was drawn within the fort.

Ray had no sooner emerged from the hole than he found himself hugged in his mother's arms, and the others crowded round to congratulate him. The redskins heard the shout of triumph that was raised in the fort and knew that the man they were firing at had escaped. But how? It was still light enough for them to keep in view the stump behind which he had taken refuge, and had he got up and been assisted over the stockade he would have been in their full view. The gate had not been opened. Surely the paleface had been translated into the fort by the Great Spirit.

NEW CLEW IN CRIPPLE CASE.

Authorities Say They Can Prove Body Found Is That of Prisoner's Wife.

London, Aug. 12.—It was reported yesterday that the authorities have discovered a clew to the certain identity of the body unearthed in the Hilltop Crescent home of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, now under arrest in Quebec, awaiting extradition, on the charge the having murdered an unnamed woman. The police have contended all along that the bits of flesh found were parts of the body of Belle Elmore, the actress wife of Dr. Crippen, but their identification as such has been a matter of much doubt. It is generally believed that the case of the crown rests on a positive identification and the greatest importance is attached to the latest development.

The hopeful clew was obtained during an exhaustive examination of the body made by Professor Pepper, the home-made expert, who had previously given many hours to the problem. During the five hours that he worked, Professor Pepper obtained conclusive evidence that the sex was feminine. He then continued with the purpose of determining the manner of death, having in mind the possibility that poison was used. The analysis so far as the poison theory is concerned was not completed yesterday, but it was reported that the physician found evidence that at some period the woman had undergone a surgical operation. If this can be established, the authorities claim that they will have gone a long way in proving that the victim was Belle Elmore.

THE ROCHESTER CONVENTION.

Should Have a Large Attendance This Year.

The slogan that "all roads lead to Rochester" ought to be an inspiring one to the trade at large this year and should call for a larger attendance than has as yet been known at the annual gatherings of the National Retail Merchants' association. And why? Because no monument dealers' convention has ever yet combined so many features of interest at one time to recompense the participant for whatever inconveniences and expense he may have been put to to attend it. So far as the usual attractions of such a convention are concerned, an estimate may be formed by the perusal of the preliminary program given in another column; and it may be safely assumed that a liberal supply of new ideas, modifications, to suit the times, of old ones and a vast amount of excellent and wholesome information pertaining to the trade will be available for any dealer alive to the occasion and ready to absorb all there is to be obtained. The exhibition will, itself, be perhaps the most complete that has ever been brought together. Rough stock, finished goods, operating tools and devices, and general supplies will be there for study and inspection, and it would be the proper and an appropriate thing for dealers to reserve a share of their purchasing intentions, so far as possible, until they get to Rochester, so as to place some of their orders with the firms who have been so liberal as to take their chances in making such an exhibit. Another matter that must not be overlooked is the possibility of being able to continue the trip on to the eastern quarries, which the local railroad fares and the location of Rochester in respect to these quarries, facilitates. One can scarcely imagine a more profitable summer undertaking for the progressive dealer than the convention and a visit to the quarries. It would be a very valuable education and at a comparatively low price. A little high pressure enthusiasm and a determination to make it in spite of everything will land a large crowd of dealers at Rochester, and no pains will be spared to provide accommodation and a profitable time for all present. Before the next issue of this journal, the Rochester convention will be an event of the past, and every dealer may well hope that it may be an inspiration to the trade.—Monumental News.

INDIANS ARE VERY WEALTHY

Those in Oklahoma Richest People in the World.

ACCORDING TO TESTIMONY

McMurray Investigation Shows That Choctaws and Chickasaws Are Well Off—Continuation of Hearings on Land Deals.

McAlester, Okla., Aug. 12.—Only a brief session of the congressional committee investigating Indian land deals was held yesterday, the committee having prepared to leave at noon for Sulphur, Okla., where the hearing will be resumed to-day.

It was brought out in the investigation of the Gore bribery charges yesterday that baby Indians, as well as adult ones, had "signed" the McMurray contracts providing for the sale of $30,000,000 worth of land on a 10 per cent. attorneys' fee basis.

The names of little papooses were signed by the parents or guardians, it was testified.

The Indians believed that by signing contracts they would realize more quickly on their claims.

Dr. J. Y. Miller, a Choctaw by intermarriage, testified that he and his eight children had signed the contract. The present great wealth of the Oklahoma Indians was brought out in the testimony.

Although the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians are fighting for their individual shares of the land now held by the government for them, they are at present content among the richest people in the world. It was said that their per capita interest in the claim against the government is $3,500, besides which they are already rich in lands.

Indian witnesses took the stand and told of measuring their land by the thousand acres.

Ormsby McFarg, an attorney for the Choctaw tribes, testified that some "assessors" had been sent upon him because he had been employed as the Indians' counsel in Washington, while he lived in New York. He said he received a salary of $12,000 a year.

Acting under the secretary of the interior, McFarg said he had investigated the Indian land situation in Oklahoma.

"I found the situation as confusing as ingenious men could make it," testified the witness. "I was instructed by the department of the interior to blaze a way and clear up the confusion. I am now engaged in formulating a plan."

What his plan was, McFarg did not say. He declared his contract specifically provided for his residing in New York. If the McMurray contracts were approved, Mr. McFarg said, he would resign at once, as he would regard it as a duplication of service. He said the Choctaw tribe already paid out $30,000 a year for attorneys.

Dr. E. N. Wright, a delegate for the Choctaws at Washington, took the stand and denied the charges made against him in the testimony of Congressman Carter. Carter testified that Richard C. Adams of Washington had said Wright was "interested" in the McMurray contracts. Wright said he never had received any assistance from McMurray, except that last winter in Washington McMurray had endorsed his note for $800.

ITALY TAKES ACTION.

Files a Brief in New Jersey on the Charlton Case.

New York, Aug. 12.—A move was made yesterday in behalf of the Italian government in the case of Porter Charlton, who confessed to having murdered his wife at Lake Como, Italy, and is being held in Jersey City awaiting extradition proceedings. The hearing set for yesterday went over by agreement until September 20, but Gustave Di Rosa, the Italian vice consul in New York, appeared before Supreme Court Justice Blair in Jersey City and filed with the justice the dossier in Charlton's case. The dossier contains a record of all the evidence gained by the Italian government and is written in Italian. Judge Blair ordered a transcript of the record to be made for the use of the court some time before the date set for Charlton's examination.

The New Jersey authorities have not been informed of any action by the state department in Charlton's case, it being understood that no formal demand for the young prisoner's extradition has as yet been made by the Italian government.

Boy's Terrible Ride.

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 12.—After driving with one hand a team of bronchos for 40 miles on a stormy night, Alfred Villa delivered the body of his dead brother to his parents near this city Wednesday night.

While driving through the storm, the buckboard in which the two boys were riding was struck by lightning, killing the younger boy instantly and paralyzing one side of the other. Regaining consciousness, the elder boy headed the team for home, driving with his unaffected hand. Several other persons were stunned during the same storm.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the change of life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for women's ills has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, irregularities, nervousness, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

MOVES AGAINST CHOLERA.

Germany Takes Careful Precaution to Prevent Invasion by the Disease.

Berlin, Aug. 12.—The health authorities are taking anxious precaution against cholera invasion of Germany. Comprehensive measures that had long been prepared by the health office were put in effect yesterday along the Prussian frontier. One hundred and forty special medical inspectors were sent to reinforce the usual sanitary watch. All barges, rafts and timber coming down the Vistula river as well as all water craft on the River Warta, an affluent of the Oder and the River Neisse in Prussia, are being examined closely. The government feels that the safety not only of Germany, but of all western and southern Europe, depends upon the efficiency of the sanitary posts on the Russian border.

UNWISE TO INDICT.

Judge Says Grand Jury Should Wait in the Gallagher Case.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Supreme Court Justice Swayne yesterday charged the special Hudson county grand jury on the attempt to assassinate Mayor Gaynor. He practically told the jury that it would be unwise to take up the matter with the idea of indicting the assassin just now.

The justice pointed out that if they indicted Gallagher for assault with intent to kill Gallagher might plead guilty to the indictment and the court would have to determine the punishment. Incidentally, Gallagher might get out on bail and there might be trouble in getting him again, should Mayor Gaynor die.

MUST TURN OVER ALL

Memphis Car Co. Must Surrender Plant to Illinois Central

IN CONSPIRACY CASE

Prosecutions to Be Begun Against the Stockholders for the Recovery of Money in Addition to Surrender of the Plant.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Disclosure of a most sensational nature involving high former officials of the Illinois Central railroad in the conspiracy by which the Memphis Car company is alleged to have defrauded the railroad of hundreds of thousands of dollars, were made yesterday when a decree was entered in Chancellor Heskett's court. By this decree every dollar's worth of property in the Memphis Car company's plant and a sum in cash will be turned over to the Illinois Central railroad. Deeds were filed from the entering of the decree.

Prosecutions will immediately begin, it is said, against a number of the former officials implicated, probably in the Illinois courts first and later in the Tennessee courts.

The stockholders mentioned in the decree, beside E. H. Ward and H. C. Osterman, the organizers of the Memphis Car company, and their officials positions at the time of the issuance of the stock are:

Frank R. Burman, general manager of the Illinois Central; Hugh McCourt, general superintendent of the southern lines of the Illinois Central; W. S. King, general superintendent of the Yoncos City and Mississippi Valley railroad, operating also the Memphis terminals of the Illinois Central up to May 1, 1908, superintendent of machinery, having charge of the repair of equipment; Joseph E. Baker, assistant superintendent of machinery; John M. Taylor, general storekeeper, Barnside shops, Chicago.

Memphis is said to be in France but as soon as a true bill is secured, efforts will be made to bring him back.

It is known that the Illinois Central refused offers of large sums in a settlement to include immunity, declaring that the road would rather lose the millions of which it had been defrauded, than to have the officials, who had been parties to the alleged fraud escape punishment.

One of the stockholders, Ira G. Bawn, is dead.

GUN FIGHT IN HARTFORD.

One Italian Dead, One Fatally and One Slightly Wounded.

Hartford, Ct., Aug. 12.—One man dead and two injured, one fatally, is the result of a gun fight here yesterday among Italian occupants of a shanty in the north part of the city. The dead man is only known to the police as Pedro.

He was 32 years old and was instantly killed by John Baptista, a second after he had sent a bullet into the latter's jaw as a result of a reprimand. All the men were armed with revolvers. While Pedro and Baptista were exchanging shots, John Pannello, a peace-maker, got three bullets in his body. He is in a precarious condition.

Baptista will recover. He will be arraigned on a charge of murder, although the evidence so far obtained by the police shows that he fired in self-defense. He warned Pedro about making an unwise noise upon his entry to the shanty, and the response was a threat to kill him.

Other witnesses say the quarrel was due to a dispute over 20 cents, and that knives as well as pistols were brought into play.

The tour is chiefly for the purpose of inspecting reclamation projects and the national parks. From Portland he will go to Klamath Falls, remaining there until Aug. 17. Thursday and Friday following he will spend in San Francisco, and from Aug. 21 to 25 he will inspect reclamation projects. From Colorado he will go on to Washington, D. C., where he expects to arrive September 1.

AWAIT ROME'S WORD TO RISE

Spanish Catholics Reported Organized to Fight

ANY SEPARATION LAW

Could Not Do as in France—The Carlists Say That They Are Ready to Revolt if the Vatican Supports Them.

Rome, Aug. 12.—The Vatican is receiving reports from Mgr. Vico, papal nuncio at Madrid, and the Spanish cardinals and bishops who were forwarded after they had received Cardinal Merry del Val's instructions to abandon the demonstrations at San Sebastian, planned for last Sunday.

According to these reports, the Catholic organization on the peninsula is perfect, making it impossible for Premier Canalejas to repeat there what the French ministry did in France, bringing about the separation of church and state.

On the other hand, the Carlists declare that they are ready to intervene with a certainty of carrying the day, if Rome will order the clergy and Catholics generally to support them.

The holy see, it is said, is most reluctant to take any such step as is suggested, as it does not wish to bring on civil war, which it believes would not benefit the church.

WILL NOT RETURN.

Unlikely That Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican Will Go Back.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—Premier Canalejas, following an interview with Marquis Emilio De Ojeda, the ambassador to the Vatican, who was recently recalled, yesterday said that the Spanish diplomat probably would not return to Rome. A government organ asserts that Marquis Ojeda, after leaving the Italian property in the vicinity. Roofs of capital, paid a farewell visit to the houses near by where he was crushed in under pope and was received by Cardinal Vives Tuto with greatest courtesy.

DIED IN PRISON.

One of Three Sister Accused of Sneed Murder Starves Herself to Death.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 12.—Miss Virginia Wardlaw, one of the mysterious sisters under indictment for the murder of Mrs. Oney W. M. Sneed, the East Orange bathtub victim, died in the house of detention here yesterday. Death was due, in the opinion of physicians, to starvation.

In the opinion of jail attendants, Miss Wardlaw deliberately starved herself to death. For several weeks the woman's condition has been growing worse, and last week she was removed from the jail to the house of detention. In the cell she occupied was found a quantity of food, which she had concealed. At the end physicians declared the woman's stomach had become so atrophied that it was impossible for her to retain food, even had she desired to do so.

FEARS FOR SCOTT'S SHIP.

But the Explorer Himself Is Not on Board.

London, Aug. 12.—Considerable anxiety is felt for Captain Scott's antarctic expedition ship, the Terra Nova, now 11 days overdue at Capetown. The vessel has not been spoken since she left Madeira on June 27.

Captain Robert F. Scott, commander of the British expedition, which set out on June 1 from London for the south pole, is not yet aboard the Terra Nova, but left July 16 to join the vessel in New Zealand. The Terra Nova stopped at Cardiff to coal and proceeded on June 15 to Madeira, from which port she sailed 12 days later for Capetown. She should have reached Capetown not later than August 1.

Lieutenant E. R. Evans is second in command, the other officers and scientists numbering 28. The crew of the steamer consists of 27 picked men.

Explosion Hurts Many.

New York, Aug. 12.—Twenty persons were injured yesterday afternoon by the premature explosion of a charge of dynamite in an excavation on East 32d street, which threw the entire neighborhood into a panic and did heavy damage to property in the vicinity. Roofs of capital, paid a farewell visit to the houses near by where he was crushed in under pope and was received by Cardinal Vives Tuto with greatest courtesy.
